EXPERIENCE

While I have not experienced the working world, opportunities within my sixth form allowed me to develop and hone my skills that are applicable to various fields. Through a 'Reading Buddies' programme I worked with a number of students from year 7 and 8 who had challenges regarding their reading ability. With patience and dedication I used the utmost of my abilities to guide them. Additionally, I had an informal talk with a healthcare professional who advised myself and my peers how to properly converse with patients but these skills can be used in any setting.
